

Press Release from Signal House Group Ltd:
“Signal House Group achieves Investors In People status”
For Immediate Release.

The Signal House Group of companies is delighted to announce that Investors in People (IIP) status has been obtained.

Commenting on the award, Signal House Group Chairman Peter Roberts said:

“Achieving Investors in People status is excellent news for the Signal House Group. This demonstrates our commitment to developing and nurturing the company’s best asset – our people. We are delighted to have achieved the accreditation, but similarly delighted that our people have had the chance to develop and learn new skills whilst working with us. We look forward to continual development and maintaining the accreditation in future years.”

IIP status was granted following an assessment of the Group’s training and development culture and records alongside interviews held with a cross section of Signal House Group staff. The Signal House Group has always been committed to developing its staff and this is demonstrated by low levels of staff turnover and continual intake of shop-floor apprentices. As extract from the assessment report is detailed below:

“It is apparent from this first assessment against the Investors in People standard, that the whole organisation has an excellent attitude to training people at work and this is at the core of strategic plans to develop the business for the future. People are clear on what their role is and how this support the aims of their team and the organisation and all staff are aware of the need to continuously improve in order to remain competitive. Activities to encourage the contribution of staff and communications are also strengths to be commended.”

The Signal House Group of companies is formed from structural and mechanical engineers Collis Engineering Ltd, railway signalling civils specialist Collis Engineering Civils Division and signalling and electrical engineering specialist Signal House Ltd.
